

Agony of burns tot

A TODDLER burned in a nursery accident was sent home from hospital in bandages – even though she needed a skin graft.

Casey White scalded her face, shoulder and stomach tipping boiling water over herself.

The day after A&E treatment, the 17-month-old was in such pain she needed a graft on her shoulder injury and may need another on her face.

Mum Claire, 24, of Stowmarket, Suffolk, is furious that Ipswich Hospital sent her home with just pain relievers, saying: "She could be scarred for life." A hospital spokesman said: "The burns were properly assessed."

Fly to Oz for £200

A BUDGET airline began selling flights from London to Australia for only £200 yesterday.

AirAsia will fly passengers from Stansted to Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, for just £99 one-way, from March 11 next year.

Connecting flights to Perth cost around £100.

Flights to Thailand via Kuala Lumpur cost only £105. The deals are less than a quarter of the price of a standard air fare to either destination.

The prices include tax but in-flight food, entertainment and baggage cost extra. An AirAsia spokesman said the deals were "groundbreaking".
